Agency Purpose

The Australian Electoral Commission (AEC) is an independent statutory authority established by the Australian Government to maintain an impartial and independent electoral system for eligible voters through active electoral roll management, efficient delivery of polling services, and targeted education and public awareness programs.

The AEC's values and commitments

The AEC values and commitments are an essential component of our operating environment and frame how AEC staff work. The AEC's focus is on electoral integrity through the values of quality, agility and professionalism.

Locations

The AEC is geographically diverse with a National Office in Canberra, a State Office in each state capital and a Northern Territory Office in Darwin. Each state is divided into electoral divisions (there are 150 across Australia), which may alter in accordance with changes to the distribution of electoral boundaries.

Work Environment

The Perth Office services the Divisions of Curtin, Hasluck, Perth, Stirling, Swan and Tangney. More information about the Divisions can be found on our website, www.aec.gov.au. The staffing structure consists of full and part-time APS 6, 5, 4, 3 and 2 positions working as a team to deliver the AEC's program outcomes. Office staffing is supplemented by temporary employees as required.

When an election is announced, the staffing expands to many hundreds, with polling officials, temporary office staff and post polling day scrutiny staff – these staff will often only work for the AEC in an election delivery period and require intensive training and effective supervision to undertake their role. The workload also increases substantially from managing day to day business as usual activities to managing high risk and large scale projects with increased media and public scrutiny, short and immutable delivery timeframes, and multiple, interdependent logistical activities that are dependent on each other.

The AEC is committed to the APS values of being impartial, committed to service, accountable, respectful and ethical.

Job Summary

You will be responsible for leading a team to plan and deliver major logistical events, setting expectations for the broader team and preparing complex correspondence, reports and reviews. The primary functions include managing and supporting all aspects of high risk large scale projects, adapting leadership to an expanding team, collaborating and communicating with key stakeholders as well as handling pressure from any media attention or public scrutiny.

The Divisional Office Manager leads a team providing electoral services for a number of electoral divisions. The primary function of this role is to provide leadership in electoral administration and form part of the Leadership Team for the site.
