

Suggestion 11

Marilyn Bowler

1 page

With only 11 per cent of federal electorates named after women who have contributed to Australian society, I would like to suggest Margaret Tucker, Indigenous activist, founding member and treasurer of the Australian Aborigines League, co-founder of the Victorian Aboriginal and Islander Women's Council and organiser of the 1938 National Day of Mourning.

Marilyn Bowler