Foreword

The following submission represents the position of the Queensland Greens for suggested redivision of the federal divisions of Queensland.

This submission includes a statement of position in regards to redivision of electorates, as well as a single suggested option for redistribution both in summary and in detail in an attached file of all Statistical Area 1 (SA1) tables, a boundary definition file and maps to assist in describing the electorates.

We would like to thank the Redistribution Committee of the AEC for their hard work, diligence and professionalism in the preparation for this boundary review.

Positions of the Queensland Greens on Redivision

We have noted the committee's requirements for the redistricting and have made sure that our submission addresses those parameters. All districts in our proposal are within the +/-10% variance at the current enrolment level, and have ensured that the districts are within the +/-3.5% target for the projected figures. We also noted the requirements for considering communities of interest, transportation and communication links within districts and physical topology of the area.

The Greens take the view that redistributions of electoral districts should, as best as possible, fulfil these additional goals:

- The boundaries should give all political parties a chance of representation in parliament if their primary vote is a significant proportion of the overall vote. This goal was not able to be met.
- The promotion of one vote one value through the system, in that the number of voters between electorates should be even as far as practical.
- In an election where the result is a 50:50 split on two-party-preferred overall, the result should be as close as practical to equal between the two sides, otherwise the outcome of a redrawing should be as close as practical to previous results and to the proportional share of party primary votes as possible.
- The boundaries should be contiguous, as compact as is practicable, logical and follow some patterns of shared interests between populations
- As much as possible, the boundaries should follow logical divides such as rivers, mountains, highways and arterial roads.
- Increasing the number of seats with high electoral margins disenfranchises minority voters in those seats. As much as practical the practice of "packing" districts should be avoided.

As we have pointed out on several occasions in redistribution processes run by the Electoral Commission of Queensland, there is very little we can do for the severe under-representation that is experienced by smaller political parties in single member electorates. We tried to avoid significantly disadvantage smaller parties, opting to make the fewest changes in districts that didn't require significant reworking or would provide no advantage to our voters if they were to be change.

Presented Option

Overview

In drawing these new boundaries we started with the position that we would try to keep as many SA2 districts together as we could, but would not split an SA1 district for ease of analysis. To resolve existing splits, we allocated the whole SA1 to the district with the highest share of the population according to the AEC figures, so there are some small changes around the map.

From there we balanced the populations and attempted to meet our internal requirements, which we will summarise quickly here

- There were no districts outside the 10% variance based on the existing numbers, so we used the narrower 3.5% threshold to prepare the proposed boundaries. Based on the estimates of the existing divisions, there were 6 seats above 3.5% and 4 seats below -3.5% of variance. Under our proposal all seats comply with the 3.5% threshold.
- In North Brisbane we made significant changes to the boundaries of Brisbane, Lilley, Ryan, Dickson, Longman and Petrie to deal with the growth expected in Brisbane, Lilley and in the corridor between Petrie and Longman around the North Lakes area.
- In South Brisbane we shifted voter populations from over-quota Griffith to under-quota Moreton and Bonner.
- We extended the seat of Oxley into Wright to make sure it would make up some of its voter quota
- We transferred regional sections of Fairfax into Fisher to balance the populations there.
- On the Far North Queensland Coast, we transferred votes from over-quota Leichhardt to under-quota Capricornia, affecting Kennedy, Dawson, Hinkler & Herbert. Our aim was to keep or extend electorates in large regional towns to include as much of their surrounding suburbs and satellite towns where possible while not splitting any of them between districts. At this stage it appears the population in the area will make that difficult but we have made some changes in that direction
- On the Gold Coast, we moved some voters between Wright, Forde & Fadden to balance the population in those districts
- We made no significant changes to the Wide Bay region, Central West Queensland or Southern Downs, which all appear to be well within even the narrow quotas without changes.

Electorate Naming

Based on the changes made, we have only a single suggestion for a name change at this redistribution. The electorate of Petrie has drifted significantly over time to the point at which even on beginning this redistribution, the suburb bearing its name was already outside the electorate. In our submission we have seen it drift even further towards the eastern coast moving it further away from the suburb, and away from the heritage of the namesake for the district, Andrew Petrie, who was known more for areas in the former Pine Rivers Local Government Area, rather than the districts around Bramble Bay.

We suggest that the commission consider renaming the electorate to meet community expectations (ie. that a suburb with the same name as an electorate actually be included in that electorate), however we have no specifically strong option that we wish to advocate. We immediately rejected options to name it after the major population districts in Petrie (Redcliffe and Sandgate) as they are standing names for state districts. We do have a few first thoughts, and would be happy to hear further suggestions in reply if other submissions are so inclined.

- Pine - After the Pine rivers, which open up into Bramble Bay, which splits the two main areas of the divisions.
- Hornibrook - after the original bridge built by Sir Manual Hornibrook in the 1930's that spans Hay's inlet and Bramble Bay.

- Warra - The Turrbal people, who are the traditional owners of the area in Sandgate described what we now refer to as Hays Inlet and Bramble Bay as Warra, roughly translated as an flat, open sheet of water. As with the use of all aboriginal names, further research and permission must be sought from the traditional owners before it is adopted.
