

Suggestion 22

Susan May Jackson

1 page

The 2021 redistribution should help to redress the under-representation of women, and particularly indigenous women, in electorate names. Where electorates are to be named or re-named priority should be given to recognising the contribution and leadership of such women as Margaret Tucker, Eleanor Harding, Zelda D'Aprano, Joan Kirner and Susan Ryan.

Refer to: We have enough electorates named after dead white men. It's time we chose a woman instead

By Claire Wright, The Conversation, October 2, 2020

https://theconversation.com/we-have-enough-electorates-named-after-dead-white-men-its-time-we-chose-a-woman-instead-146923?utm_medium=email&utm_campaign=Latest%20from%20The%20Conversation%20for%20October%205%202020%20-%201749116939&utm_content=Latest%20from%20The%20Conversation%20for%20October%205%202020%20-%201749116939+CID_bfcb9175babeac7ad2967a918a37309c&utm_source=campaign_monitor&utm_term=We%20have%20enough%20electorates%20named%20after%20dead%20white%20men%20Its%20time%20we%20chose%20a%20woman%20instead